PRESENTATION

As a front-end developer my focus is to promote creative and innovative solutions in the area of systems development. With a degree in engineering, I have worked in several companies as a front-end developer since 2021 using the best tools on the market, such as Typescript, React.js, Node.js, Angular, Figma and many others. I'm easy to work with as part of a team and flexible enough to adapt to new market needs and demands. My professional goal is to work on high-tech projects, contributing to the growth and development of the company as a whole.
